

Project Terminus Liaison Jose Molina

Jose Molina serves as the Liaison Officer for Project TERMINUS under the Border Security Division (BDS) of INTERPOL Washington, the United States National Central Bureau (USNCB). Jose's duties are to support efforts by BSD/USNCB in assisting partner countries with the implementation of Project TERMINUS. The goal of Project TERMINUS is to strengthen border security of the partner countries by adding to their border management tools.

With over 20 years of law enforcement experience, specializing in homeland security with an emphasis on border operations, Jose has a wealth of experience that covers both foreign and domestic operations. Jose retired from the United States Border Patrol, working throughout the southwest border. As a U.S. Customs and Border Protection Advisor, Jose worked with foreign governments, addressing border security issues. Jose has worked in Mexico, Central America, Central Asia, and Eastern Europe. His foreign work experience includes training, assessment, humanitarian and advisory missions.

Most recently, Jose was working as a Land Border Security Advisor in Moldova under the guidance of the Department of State/Export Control and Related Border Security Assistance (DoS/EXBS). His duties included assessing current threat levels, regarding Moldova's border security and implementing training to enhance overall effectiveness of the Moldovan Border Police.

Jose graduated from California State University, Los Angeles where he received a Bachelor of Science in Criminal Justice and a minor in Sociology.
